A Fire Trap Destroyed.

At 11:30 o'clock last night a fire was discovered in Charles Knudsen's drug store at 915 South Thirtieth street, adjoining the new hotel just completed by the Barker Brothers at the corner of Thirtieth and Jones. The drug store is a two-story frame structure, with a brick front, and is connected with a building of similar size that formerly stood at the corner of Fifteenth and Farnam. Streets where the new Barker block was recently burned. The upper floor of the drug store, was occupied by offices. The first floor of the store was occupied by the Omaha Store Repair works and the second floor used as a residence by John Chadwick, one of the teachers in the Omaha Business college. When discovered the fire was under good headway in the drug store coming apparently from the cellar. An alarm was instantly given and the department responded promptly, but before they could reach the scene the flames had spread to the second story of the drug store and from here through a door to the frame building. An open space between the buildings acted as a ventilator and conducted the flames to the tinder-like roofs of the buildings. Mr. Chadwick with his wife and two children were not awakened until the firemen arrived and were at work on the building. It was then impossible to escape from the building by the stairway and Mr. Chadwick lowered his two children in a blanket to willing hands on the street below. He then escaped with his wife by a ladder that was placed at the window for them by the firemen. As Mr. Chadwick was leaving the building a piece of a broken window fell upon him, striking his hand and inflicting a very serious cut. When the firemen got ready for active operations both buildings were completely enveloped in flames, which were not apparently affected by the streams of water that were turned on them. It was only after a stubborn fight for three-quarters of an hour that the flames were brought under control. The damage on buildings and property will reach $3,500. The stock in the drug store was about $2,000, which is nearly a total loss. The Omaha Store Repair works carry a very large stock which will be damaged $500 by water. Mr. Chadwick loses all of his furniture and household goods. The damage to the buildings will reach $1,000. Mr. Chadwick is the only uninsured loser.

THE DUNBAR WRECKERS.

One of Them Recognized by a Passenger on the Ill-fated Train.

Mr. Kopp, of the firm of Kopp, Driehaus & Co., was one of the passengers on the train which was wrecked near Dunbar last Wednesday night.

"I wouldn't go through again what I did that night if the whole United States was given to me for a Christmas present," he said to a Bee reporter last night. "I would rather rather walk up a hill and rolled down hill, I was in the smoker at the time, lying in a seat in the next to the baggage car. When the crash came I jumped up and grabbed the stove with both hands. I thought of the Baltimore & Ohio wreck. It was so hot I couldn't hold it and I let go, threw up the window sash and jumped out. As I touched the ground I saw two men start to run. I thought they were passengers and supposed they were afraid the engine would explode. One was a tall man and the other rather short. The short man was behind and not more than a foot in front of me. It was a bright moonlight night, and as he started he looked back at me. I saw his face as plain as I see yours, and I would know him anywhere. In Australia, I recognized him at the Nebraska City jail the minute I set eyes on him. If I had known who he was that night he would never have got away from there alive."

The Popularity of Bicycle Sports—Coming Races.

There has been a change in the character of sports that promise amusement for the winter season. Omahans are amusement lovers in the best sense in that they patronize liberally any wholesome attraction. The introduction of bicycle contests has very satisfactorily filled the demand for sports of the athletic nature and the hippodromic fakes that have been offered by pugilistic combinations have consequently lost their drawing power. There is no satisfaction, even for the most enthusiastic admirer of the manly art, in witnessing a bare-knuckled exhibition or listening to the petty quarrels of would-be toughs who have had charge of such entertainments in Omaha. Boxing, will always be a pleasing and attractive amusement, but the pleasure seekers of Omaha will find no enjoyment in it until exhibitions, given by men who can be relied upon, replace the gate fakes that have disgusted patrons of the sport in this city.

The interest in bicycle racing is on the increase. The Exposition building, in which is one of the finest indoor tracks in existence, is continually thronged by lovers of this wholesome sport. Mr. John S. Prince is giving instruction to half a hundred men and boys who are seeking to gain a mastery of the silent steed. Since the great six-day tournament every race has been witnessed by increasing audiences, and indications point to a more widespread interest in the sport than has been taken in any other sport ever introduced into the city. The ladies are always present in large numbers at the races and take eager interest in the result of all contests.

John S. Prince has secured the privilege of constructing a bicycle course at the fair grounds for use during the summer months. A track twenty feet in width will be built on the inside of the race course, making an elegant half-mile course. It is proposed to give a bicycle tournament here some time during the summer. This will bring the best wheelmen in the country to Omaha and will give a series of athletic sports such as has never been witnessed in the west.

A great programme has been arranged for presentation at the exposition building on Saturday night. The Omaha Turn-Verein society has joined with the bicycle talent in preparing an athletic programme of an unusually varied and excellent character. The first feature will be a 100-yard amateur foot race for a gold medal. Already more than a dozen entries have been made for this race, and the number will doubtless be increased. This will be followed by a wrestling match, a professional foot race for one mile, high and long jumping, horizontal bar performance and sports of a kindred nature. Among the bicycle features will be a five-mile amateur race open to all comers. All of these contests will be for medals and prizes. The principal bicycle feature will be a five-mile professional handicap race, with Prince Dingley and Bullock as starters. Bullock will be given one lap the start. This will be one of the finest races that have been given. Bullock is getting speedier every day and with his advantage will make it decidedly interesting for his opponents.

A RAILROAD SOCIETY.

Union Pacific Employees to Form a Social Organization.

A meeting of employees of the Union Pacific was held Saturday afternoon in the office of C. V. Pratt, storekeeper, building "A," of the yard offices, the object of which was to organize a railroad society among the employees of the road. About thirty-five men were present. Mr. Wilson was chosen chairman pro tem. Mr. Pratt stated that the company would give the society the free use of a room in the headquarters for library purposes. Little business of importance was transacted besides appointing a committee with Mr. Wilson as chairman to draft a constitution and by-laws. The committee will also make arrangements for a permanent place for meeting. Considerable interest is taken in the matter by B. Hodges, chemist; J. H. Wilson, assistant superintendent of machinery; J. H. Stafford, assistant storekeeper. The meeting will be held again the first Saturday in February.

"Christ Lost and Found Again."

Dean Gardner, who has just returned from an eastern trip, preached to large congregations at Trinity cathedral yesterday morning and evening. Until further notice services will be held at Trinity on Wednesday and Friday mornings at 9 o'clock, and every evening at 5 o'clock except on Fridays, when the services will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The dean preached an able sermon last night, of which a synopsis is appended, upon the subject of "Christ Lost and Found Again."

The subject before us this evening is a great object lesson. Painters, poets and composers have found in the incarnation of beautiful pictures, sweet songs and most enthusiastic sermons, Christ standing in the midst of his learned men of the temple has been taken to show the importance of his realization of the part of the young of christian responsibility. His question addressed to his parents has indicated the importance of heavenly matters and evening. Until further notice services will be held at Trinity on Wednesday and Friday mornings at 9 o'clock, and every evening at 5 o'clock except on Fridays, when the services will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The dean preached an able sermon last night, of which a synopsis is appended, upon the subject of "Christ Lost and Found Again."

But to-night I do not wish to touch upon these special points of instruction. I want, with you, to take a lesson in Christ lost and found again.

The party had plausibly come up to Jerusalem to attend the feast, finished their devotions and departed homeward. In the confusion of the time, the young Jesus became lost to his parents. I point out to you four facts connected with the event and wish you prayerfully to consider them.

1. He was lost and they knew not of it. Many of us lose Christ and are not conscious of the loss. We do not really miss prayer, or the holy communion, or other acts of religion.

2. It was evening before his parents missed Jesus. Often it is the evening of life before we are conscious that we are without Christ, or some sorrow overtakes us and reveals our helplessness without Him.

3. Christ's parents sought him vainly among their kinsfolk and acquaintances. So we seek Christ in vain in vain worldly methods and plans. Many make their religion to consist mainly, if not entirely, in the doing of good works, and yet they are without Christ.

4. But lastly Christ was found in the temple. So we find Him in the church. The church was founded for the purpose of revealing Christ to us. You and I can find Him in the church, because the church is an association of people striving to do right by whom we are helped. The church is the place of prayer and praise, and the keeper and defender of holy writ and holy tradition. But chiefly the church is the body of Christ. Membership in the church is membership in Christ. By the sacrament of holy baptism we are made very members of Christ—born again into Him. Christ, and in the other, the great sacrament of the altar we are strengthened in our union with Him, because He gives us His body and blood, and thus we are Christ, my friends, and finding Him you will find life, and when you come to walk through the valley of the shadow of death you will fear no evil, for His rod and staff will comfort you.
